10. [redacted] - LLM) Returned the call of David Cahn, in the office of Representative Angelo Roncallo (R., N. Y.), who wanted to know how many Agency employees would be covered by the Congressman's prisoner-of-war bill, H. R. 4294, which, among other things, would give double retirement credit under the CIA Retirement Act and other Federal staff retirement systems for periods during which the individual was either in a missing status or a prisoner of war. Cahn explained he wanted to include this information in a "Dear Colleague" letter on the legislation. He said he was a former Foreign Service Officer and felt that sometimes members of the Foreign Service and CIA were overlooked in legislation and Roncallo agreed that they should be specifically included in H. R. 4294.

I explained to Cahn [redacted] and he agreed to insert only a general statement on CIA in the letter.

Hal,

In re your request:

(1) attached is the Public Law on compensation under the War Claims Act for civilians during the Vietnam conflict. You will note that civilian compensation is established at $60 per month whereas military can go as high as $5 a day;

(2) concerning prospects on liberalizing legislation in this area, DOD would be the best source of information. We would, of course, be glad to be in contact with them as we have in the past, but it is my understanding that [redacted] old [redacted] that he, [redacted] wanted to be in contact with DOD people on this subject.

For whatever it is worth, I am quite sure that Personnel and others in the Agency received copies of the attached P. L. when it was printed in view of our interest in extending coverage under the law to civilians, a feature not in the original bill, and our interest in broadening its geographical application.

We will, of course, continue to send to you legislation which has been introduced on this subject to keep you abreast of significant developments thereon.

Please let us know what your comments are on 2 above or if we can get any other info for you.
